In Memory of Jack.

God sent to earth a dear little boy,

To the home of a loved one of mine

And be a blessing to all mankind.

This life was welcomed with love

They gave him to the care of God

And guarded his life with care.

As a wee small child he won a place

And as he did begin his "life race"

He grew dearer to each and all.

God needed another little angel so fair

To brighten his kingdom on high.

To seek and bid "our baby" to come.

Little Jack we needed-I think-more

But "God doeth all things well"-

Leaving us-never to return again,

But, when I think where he has gone,

My aching heart ceases its pain.

And so we let the little life go

To live in the city of joy.

'Tis hard to think our little one

So sent an angel-of-love down here

In the hearts of all around

By all who knew and heard.

To fill their life with happiness and
