

THE ONLY GOOD WAY TO KEEP MILK SWEET

Follow Two Simple Rules and Milk Will Bring the Best Price on the Market

When milk or cream is sold from the farm, doubtless the farmer has often had losses due to the products becoming sour.

To keep milk sweet, just two simple things must be carefully looked after: (1) It must be cooled as completely and as quickly after milking as possible, and (2) absolute cleanliness of pails, cans and cows must be secured.

A Milk Pail That Makes It Easier to Keep Milk Sweet

The souring takes place because the invisible plants called bacteria get into the milk in dirt or by lurking in the corners and seams of poorly cleaned pails and cans.

The extension division of Clemson College is well equipped to assist farmers in any part of South Carolina with any problems in livestock that may arise.

The insect fight must begin in the fall and go right on through the winter, spring and summer.

At this season of the year cotton wilt is very active; and reports from various sections of the State indicate that this troublesome disease is more widespread this season than ever before.

COTTON WILT; HOW TO PREVENT ITS SPREAD

A recently wilted plant side by side with the healthy resistant plant.—A common occurrence.—James Island, South Carolina, August.

At this season of the year cotton wilt is very active; and reports from various sections of the State indicate that this troublesome disease is more widespread this season than ever before.

Plants affected with this disease shed their leaves, wilt and die. Upon examination, the wilted plants will be found to be black on the inside.

PREPARE FOR ARMY WORM

Caterpillars May Appear Most Any Day Now.—Cotton Should be Inspected as Often as Possible.

The Entomologists at Clemson College are expecting a heavy outbreak of the true army worm in the State this year. This caterpillar is an inch or more in length and varies from gray to black in color, with black stripe and narrow white lines on the back.

Spray. Where the worms have just been discovered and are still confined to a small area, spray with the following: Arsenate of lead..... 2 lbs. Water..... 50 gals.

Paris green..... 1 lb. Freshly slaked lime..... 2 lbs. Water..... 50 gals.

Dust with Poison. If the worm is over a large area, dust the cotton with a half and half mixture of arsenate of lead and all slaked lime, cheap flour or fine ashes.

Bait with Poisoned Bran. Where spraying and dusting will not do, use the following poisoned bait: Wheat bran..... 50 lbs. Arsenate of lead..... 2 lbs.

Mix the dry bran and poison, then add the molasses. Work into a dough and add the oranges or lemons. When the dough is too thick, add a little water.

When the worms are moving in a mass, they may be halted by digging a ditch across their path. The ditch should be narrow with steep sides.

Manure is subject to heavy losses from several sources. For instance, many farmers lose practically all their liquid manure, yet this contains more valuable plant food than the solid.

Last year the extension division of Clemson College put forth its greatest efforts in a campaign for increasing the acreage of wheat and oats.

Soil on which the common garden pea has grown well will inoculate for vetch.

HOMES FOR WHITE SETTLERS

Men Come From California and Iowa to Buy Farms in McCormick County.

McCormick, Sept. 21.—McCormick is meeting the long felt demand of the State for progressive white settlers and lands in the new county will soon be cultivated by progressive men from other States.

Mr. Ream and Mr. Strosahl are attracted by the fertility of the soil. They are land owners in the State and they are leaving but are able to sell their property there and buy the South Carolina farms with a sufficient margin through the transactions to live comfortably and carry on the work of their farms.

The farmers who are selling land to these newcomers are not moving away but have retained a large portion of their lands and will continue to reap rich harvests from the land.

THE NEWS OF WISACKY

Farmers Hope for Late Fall in Order Cotton May Mature.—Death of Green—Many Hogs Raised, But Prices are Poor.

Wisacky, Sept. 22.—This cool spell is making some of us feel uneasy, for we are basing our hopes on a late fall to mature our young cotton. Those of us who worked out our late crop of cotton, after the rain stopped, are amply rewarded, if the frost stays off long enough for it to mature.

There are three or four silos built near here, all of which have been filled. There are a number of fine milk cows in this section, used to supply cream for the creamery.

There are quite a number of hogs being prepared for the meat market. Some have already been sold, but are not bringing as good prices as they did on the early market last fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Manning are visiting the latter's father, Mr. R. M. Cooper.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McCutchen have gone to Mt. Pleasant to visit Mrs. McCutchen's parents and sister. They made the trip in their car.

Old Mr. T. D. DuRant is very ill at his home. He has been a great sufferer for some time. All the members of his family are with him.

Mrs. J. M. Green was laid to rest in the St. Luke's cemetery last Saturday. Rev. G. D. Watson, her pastor, of the Bloomsbury church, officiated.

One pastor has secured Rev. Charles Gilman with his tent to assist him in holding protracted meetings at Lynchburg and Elliotts. The St. Luke's and Wells churches will unite in meeting at Elliotts.

Mr. Gilman will bring his singer with him to conduct the music. I trust they will be fruitful meetings.

Our schools are in full operation, under efficient teachers and doing good work.

All of our young folks have returned to their different places of learning.

Miss Ella McCutchen, who graduated at Winthrop last summer, is one of the teachers in the Lynchburg graded school this year. I know she will make a success.

NEGRO HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Timothy Mance Placed in Jail When Iron is Found on Railway Track.

McCormick, Sept. 21.—Timothy Mance, a negro, was brought to McCormick and locked up in the city jail Tuesday night charged with trying to wreck a passenger train on the Charleston and Western Carolina road, about two miles east of Bradley.

Road Master P. W. Miller, who travels his division on a motor car, was coming toward McCormick when he hit a piece of iron on the track, which nearly put him on the ground.

When Road Master Miller found the iron it was almost time for the passenger train from Augusta to Spartanburg and the fact of his having found it possibly averted a serious wreck.

Mance was brought to McCormick by Mr. Miller and placed in the city jail. He will be carried to Greenwood today at 12:30 for a preliminary hearing before a magistrate of that county, as the act was committed in Greenwood county.

OLD STUDENTS RETURN

Many Boys on Hand at Clemson Opening.

Clemson College, Sept. 21.—Clemson college opened this morning with 461 of the old students present. That is 95 per cent. of last year's junior, sophomore and freshman classes; the largest percentage of old students that has ever returned.

The opening exercises were featured by a short practical address from President Riggs, in which he stressed the fact that the old students fixed the standards and set the ideals of the new men and plead for highest ideals and standards.

Over 300 new students will report next week and more than 40 one-year agricultural students will report early in October, running the total to more than 800.

NEW EUROPEAN MANAGER

W. W. Harris, Formerly of New York Sun, to Manage International News Service European Bureau.

New York, Sept. 22.—A complete reorganization of its European bureau is announced by the International News Service. W. W. Harris, former managing editor of the New York Sun has been appointed general European manager.

First—Because the system depends upon the market and crop conditions of the one crop alone. Failure of crop or failure of market alike bring serious disaster.

Second—Because it does not provide for the maintenance of soil fertility.

Third—Because it fails to provide a sufficient livestock industry to consume the waste products of the farm and make its waste lands productive.

Fourth—Because it does not provide for a system of farm management under which labor, teams and tools may be used to the fullest advantage.

Fifth—Because it brings returns in cash but once a year instead of turning the money over more than once a year.

Sixth—Because it does not produce the necessary foods to supply the people upon the farm and keep them in health and strength.

BRITISH AGENTS INTERFERE

Confidential Reports to British Foreign Office Complicate Situation.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Confidential reports made to the British foreign office by its agents here, including the embassy, have seriously complicated the State department effort to obtain relief from allied trade aggressions.

The department knows that these reports are made to the British mass of Americans approved of man's sentences and blacklist system. The situation is admittedly delicate.

Confidential representatives from American diplomats at London and Paris indicate that the administration's general attitude regarding the entente powers protests have been misunderstood.

It is known that following the adoption of retaliatory legislation in the shipping and revenue bills, British representatives reported to London that this was "a sop to German sentiment," and the provisions could not be enforced.

The State department is incensed over foreign diplomatic representative's action in carrying on an agitation against retaliatory laws on the ground of their "unconstitutionality."

CREDIT EXPERIENCE GUIDE

Much Interest Taken in the Volume in Charleston.

News and Courier. Many copies of the newly released Credit Experience Guide, in the publicity of which the Chamber of Commerce was interested, attracted enormous interest about town yesterday.

Thousands of men flocked up their ratings and weird expressions followed the performance. It has been a long while since the community has manifested so general interest in a trade publication.

Men were not content to look up their own rating but they looked up the ratings of friends and acquaintances, and on King street last night groups of young men were apparently enjoying debates on the subject of individual credit, as revealed by the Credit Experience Guide.

ENGROSSING DEPARTMENT

May be Placed Under Civil Service Rules.

Columbia, Sept. 22.—Thomas H. Peoples, attorney general, stated this morning that he is seriously contemplating placing the engrossing department employees under civil service rules.

He has so many applications for work during the next session of the general assembly that he thinks he will require all applicants to stand an examination, the better fitted to be awarded places in the engrossing department.

The shipment was said to be capture a bill was passed requiring stenographers and typists for the department, a departure from the old form of having copyists transcribe the work of the department in long hand.

SENTENCED TO JAIL

White Woman Convicted of Grand Larceny.

Lexington, Sept. 22.—Mrs. Polly Hedgepath, a white woman of prominent family connections in the community of Peak, where she was born and reared, was convicted of grand larceny in the general sessions court of Lexington county, Judge Mendel L. Smith, presiding, yesterday, and was today sentenced to serve a period of three months in the Lexington county jail, after a motion for a new trial had been refused by the court.

This is the first time in many years that a white woman has been sentenced to serve a jail or chain-gang sentence in this county. Mrs. Hedgepath was accused of stealing $19.60 from her friend and neighbor, Mrs. Daley. The jury recommended mercy.

Judge Ehrd, representing the defendant, gave notice of appeal to the supreme court, and the woman's bond was fixed by permission of the court at $500.

FIRE IN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Sept. 22.—One man was fatally burned, another hurt, and twenty-four horses burned when livery barns and a tanning factory were destroyed by fire here last night.

The loss is one hundred thousand dollars.

WANTS SANTEE CROSSING

The Herald would like to suggest a meeting of the Orangeburg and Clarendon delegations and the two supervisors-elect to consider operating a flat across the Santee as a toll business.

It is perfectly apparent, we think, that there should be a passage to Charleston from this territory. We suggest a flat with a cable because the cost of the bridge would be too great and would have to be renewed every time the Santee got on a swell.

The toll would cover the cost of operation as it would be worth a dollar to cross, with toll rated by tonnage.—Manning Herald.
