PEACE DELE- LABOR SENDS GATES NAMED

in Framing the Peace Treaty.

PRES. WILSON HIMSELF WILL HEAD DELEGATION

tained Only One Surprise, Gen. Bliss Being Added As a Full Delegate.

Washington, Nov. 29 .- The representatives of the United States at the peace conference will be:

President Wilson. Robert Lansing, secretary of state. Henry White, former ambassador to France and Italy.

E. M. House. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, representative preme war council at Versailles.

This announcement was made tonight at the White House. In the ab- and joiners. sence of any official explanation, it was assumed that the president goes as the president of the United States peace discussions and establish new and that Secretary Lansing, Mr. White international trade union federation." and Colonel House and probably also General Bliss will be delegates with ambassadorial rank. It was recalled that the president's announcement that he would go to France "for the purpose of taking part in the discussion and settlement of the main features of the treaty of peace" said that it was not likely that he could remain throughout the sessions of the peace conference and that he would be "accompanied by delegates who will sit as the representatives of the United States throughout the conference."

The White House announcement tonight follows:

"It was announced at the executive offices tonight that the representatives of the United States at the peace conference would be:

"The president himself, the secretary of state, the Hon. Henry White, recently ambassador to France; Mr. Edward M. House and Gen. Tasker H.

ber of representatives each of the them in after years. chief belligerents was to send had until a day or two ago been under Seize German Wireless no one professing to be in the confidence of the president would talk. There was only one surprise in the statement—the appearance of the name of Gen. Bliss as one of the representatives. It had been taken for granted that the general, military representative of the United States on the supreme war council, would take part in the discussions at Versailles, but the prevailing idea had been he would be attached to the delegation in a military capacity just as Admiral Benson probably will be present as spokesman for the navy in the great naval problems to be solved.

Only yesterday callers at the White House gained the distinct impression that there would be but three accredited delegates of full rank. It was suggested tonight that the name of Gen. Eliss probably was added the last moment upon receipt of information that the allied powers ed today to make no recommendation would include a military man among to the president on the suggestions their representatives.

The premiers of Great Britain, France and Italy are expected to attend the peace conference as representatives of their governments but, like the president may not remain throughout the conferences. The general understanding here is that present plans are to have the conference first agree to the broad principles of the treaty and leave the working out of details to further sittings.

This would enable the president and the entente premiers speedily to return to the capitals of their respecfive countries so as to give their personal attention to affairs of state.

Secretary Lansing who heads the delegation proper, became secretary of state in June, 1915, when William J. Bryan resigned rather than sign a note to Germany in the Lusitania case which he thought might lead to war. During the three and a half years that have followed Mr. Lansing has conducted many difficult negotiations for the country as a neutral and as a belligerent and his name appears on all the historic documents telling the story of America's entry into the war as well as those answering Germany's peace pleas which preceded the downfall of the central alliance. At the time of his appointment he was counsellor of the state department, after a career as an international lawyer which had established his reputation as one of the foremost American authorities on this subject.

Mr. White, the Republican of the delegation, is a diplomat of long experience, who began as secretary of the American legation in Vienna in informed circles almost certain to be 1884. He served as secretary of em- chosen. bassy at various capitals, represented that Mr. Root did not care to underthe United States at several great take the mission and that Justice international gatherings and in 1905 Brandeis would not be able to leave to Germany now is not love, it is was appointed, ambassador to Italy the country because of his work in the by President Roosevelt. He hastened to Europe when it became apparent that Germany was crumbling, and was in France to speak for the president in conference with the heads of the allied governments when the terms of armistice and the basis for peace discussions were determined.

General Bliss, who formerly was chief of staff of the army, went to Europe last December with an American mission and later was permanently assigned as the American military representative of the inter-allied council at Versailles. As the Argerican military representative at the peace conference he will be assisted by a staff of officers, most of whom, in the undertsanding here, will come from the general staff of the American expeditionary forces.

most striking Thanksgiving celebrated in Paris was that organized by the Knights of Columbus at the Church of the Madeline in honor of victory.

The cortege of divines partaking in the celebration included the Archbishop of Cambrai, the bishops of Amiens. Beauvais, Chalons and Soissons; Col. Workman, head of the Catholic mission to the Canadian forces; Cardinal Amette, archbishop of Paris; Cardinal Lucon, archbishop of Rheims, and Cardinal Bourne, archbishop of Westminster. Knights of Columbus occupied the choir.

Cardinal Bourne expressed Great Britain's gratitude to the United States, saying: "American intervention was wholly spiritual. It was nothing sordid. No appetite for conquest determined it. America has contributed to save the world. Let us thank God for having chosen America as the instrument of His divine power."

Cardinal Amette added an expression of France's gratitude to the United States:

"After the 'Te Deum' the clergy proceeded to the stone steps surrounding the church where Cardinal Amette blessed the crowds. It is estimated that 20,000 persons, kneeling in the mud, despite the rain and cold, received the blessing.

Admiral William S. Benson, represented the United States. Edward M. Hurley, chairman of the shipping board, also was present.

Air Defense Posts

Navy Department's Program Outlined By Admiral Taylor -America Building Fastest Plane.

Washington, Nov. 27 .- The navy department's program for making permanent the twenty-one coastal air defense stations planned for the war was explained to the house appropriations committee today by Reaf Admiral Taylor, chief of construction, who asked that $85,769,000 be provided for this work next year. Squadrons of fighting aircraft of every description will be included in the equipment for stations along the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific and insular posses-

New stations, Admiral Taylor said, are to be erected on the Maine coast between Portland and Rockland; at Narragansett Bay, N. Y.; Port Arthur, Texas; San Francisco, Seward, Alasca; Hawaiian Islands, Virgin Islands, Suam and in the Canal Zone. Staions now are under construction at lape Lookout, N. C.; Brunswick, Ga., and Galveston, Texas, and others have been completed at Chatham, Mass.; Rockaway Beach, Cape May, Miami and Key West, San Diego and in the Canal Zone. In a general discussion of plans Admiral Taylor said the fastest airplane in the world was being built in the United States. This machine, known as the Kirkham triplane, developed a speed of 160 miles an hour, and experiments are contemplated to see if it can do better than that. The admiral also told of a Zeppelin that recently flew from Bulgaria to East Africa and back. It was sent to bring home a German commander, but he was captured before the craft
