Sumter County Canned Products on Local Market

During the summer there has been a demand in Sumter for market the following products: 17 cases blackberry jam, 7-3-4 cases fig preserves, 23-3-4 cases plum jelly, artichoke relish, not finished yet. These products have been put up under direction of Home Demonstration and have been graded by the department at Winthrop College. They are put in commercial containers and are now ready for market. We stand ready to make good anything wrong and urge the housewives of Sumter to back this movement by calling for these products when buying. Levy and Moses are now handling some of the jelly. Ducker & Bultman, Peoples Grocery and O'Donnell have in an order for each of the products.

Feeding Hens for Egg Production

Eggs at forty cents are more desirable than at twenty which price most of the ordinary farm flock produce. The hen cannot lay eggs unless the egg material is provided. Elements necessary in feeds are: 1. Protein for supplying lean meat, blood, nerves, feathers, and albumen of egg. 2. Carbohydrates for supplying energy, heat and yolk egg. 3. Fats for supplying fat, heat, energy and yolk of egg. 4. Ash for supplying bone, feathers, blood and shell and yolk of egg. 5. Water. Kinds of feed necessary: 1. Grains, mash, green feeds, oyster shell, charcoal and grit. Foods taken into the body of the hen must first take care of the body needs, after that egg production can take place. We believe that most farm flocks have sufficient fat feeds but an insufficient protein feeds. Corn is principally a fat feed. Barley, wheat, oats, and rye have more protein matter than corn, but our chief source of protein feed should come from meat scrap, and milk.

Extract from Miss Neeky Regarding State Fair

A most interesting section of the State Poultry Show was the section devoted to the boys' and girls' exhibits, meaning as it does more for the future of the state than all the birds gathered together by breeders and fanciers in the usual show of poultry. This section, larger this year than ever before, is expected to show a still larger increase next year. The members of the county and community poultry associations had a very creditable exhibit of poultry, considering the fact that these are new organizations and their first time to enter birds at the fair. These members, however, by their enthusiasm made the Egg Show a decided success. In most cases the eggs were well graded and packed, and the display was a striking addition to the Home Demonstration Poultry Section. The following winners are listed according to the counties from which they exhibited. I wish to congratulate the home demonstration agents of these counties on their splendid success in getting these winners to exhibit and on the splendid poultry work being done in these counties. Sumter county: Bettie Williams, Sumter No. 3—2nd R. I. Red cock. Ora Jackson, Sumter, R. I. F. D.—1st Black Minorca cock. Mrs. B. W. Brogdon, Sumter—1st R. I. Red hen, 4th R. I. Red pullet. THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

President Harding Issues Annual Proclamation to Nation

Washington, Nov. 3.—Declaring that the estate of the nation "presents very much to justify a nationwide and most sincere testimony of gratitude for the bounty which has been bestowed upon us," President Harding, in the annual Thanksgiving proclamation issued today, calls upon the American people to observe Thursday, November 30, "as a day of thanksgiving, supplication and devotion." The text of the proclamation follows: "By the president of the United States of America." "A proclamation: 'In the beginning of our country the custom was established by the devout fathers of observing annually a day of thanksgiving for the bounties and protection which Divine Providence had extended throughout the year. It has come to be perhaps the most characteristic of our national observances, and as the season approaches for its annual recurrence, it is fitting formally to direct attention to this ancient institution of our people and to call upon them again to unite in its celebration. The year which now approaches its end has marked, in the experience of our nation, by a complexity of trials and triumphs, difficulties and of achievements, which we must regard as our inevitable portion in such an epoch as that through which all mankind is moving. As we survey the experience of the passing twelve months we shall find that our estate presents very much to justify a nationwide and most sincere testimony of gratitude for the bounty which has been bestowed upon us. Though we have lived in the shadow of the hard consequences of great conflict our country has been at peace and has been able to contribute toward the maintenance and perpetuation of peace in the world. We have seen the race of mankind make gratifying progress on the way to permanent peace, toward order and restored confidence in its high destiny. 'For the Divine guidance which has enabled us, in growing fraternity with other peoples, to attain so much of progress; for the bounteous yield which has come to us from the resources of our soil, and our industry, we owe our tribute of gratitude, and with it our acknowledgment of the duty and obligation to our people and to the unfortunate, the suffering, the distracted of other lands. Let us, in all humility, acknowledge how great is our debt to the Providence which has generously dealt with us, and give devout assurance of our purpose to play a helpful and ennobling part in human advancement. It is much to be desired that in rendering homage for the blessings which have come to us, we should earnestly testify our continued and increasing aim to make our own great fortunes a means of helping and serving as best we can the cause of all humanity. 'Now, therefore, I, Warren G. Harding, president of the United States of America, do designate Thursday, the thirtieth day of November, as a day of thanksgiving, supplication and devotion. I recommend that the people gather at their family altars and in their houses of worship to render thanks to God for the bounties they have enjoyed and to petition that these may be continued in the year before us. 'In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. 'Done at the city of Washington this second day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-two, and of the independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and forty-seventh. 'Warren G. Harding."

Orphanage Work Day Plan for Thanksgiving Period, 1922

For several years the orphanages in this state, and in other southern states, have observed a custom that has now become well established among our Sunday schools. Joint request is made by Thornwell Orphanage, the Church Home Orphanage, Epworth Orphanage and Connie Maxwell Orphanage that all people who love God and little children will contribute the income or the wage of at least one day to the orphanage of his choice. It is suggested that the plan be handled in every Sunday school in South Carolina by announcements made well in advance and that a Saturday be selected on which everybody including the children shall devote himself to a task or special job if necessary, and contribute the income of the day at his church on the following Sunday. Perhaps in some places it may prove more acceptable to have everything brought in on Thanksgiving day. Each community may work out its own plan for the observance of the day but it is hoped that many thousands of our people will adopt the scheme. If the friends of the orphan should with any sort of unanimity enter into the proposed observance of the day there is little doubt that each of our four church orphanages would receive enough to supply the current needs for some time to come. Sheriff Hurst and deputies are hard at work trying to collect tax executions for the fiscal year 1921. They are meeting with some success, but there will be a large number of executions that are returned nulla bona, the persons against whom the executions were issued having removed from the county or cannot be found for other reasons.

Morantown, W. Va., Nov. 5.—Thirteen year old Agnes Thomas struck a match in the cellar of her home here this afternoon. A flood of gas ignited and the building collapsed, like a house of cards. Pigeon Breeders Win

South Carolina was represented by a number of breeders in the big pigeon show held at Memphis in connection with the great Tri-State Fair. The Carneaux, Homing Pigeon and Moudaine classes were very large and a win in any of these means much to a breeder. Mr. Wendell M. Levi of Sumter, exhibited in the red, yellow and white Carneaux classes, winning second and third old cock, first old hen, second and fourth young cock and second and fourth young hen in whites. Small children who have been permitted to drive automobiles are in danger of arrest if their parents permit them to continue driving cars in violation of the city ordinance. Chief of Police J. M. Barwick has given notice that orders have been issued to arrest all children under fifteen years who are caught driving cars. The White Way lights on Main and Liberty streets were turned on at 6 o'clock Saturday evening to test them out. The installation is not quite complete, a few of the iron lamp poles having been broken in transit, but all the cables are in place and the work will be finished within a few days. As soon as the electric light, telegraph and telephone poles have been removed from streets the business section will present an attractive and metropolitan aspect at night. The date set for the removal of poles was November 1st, but no poles have yet been removed.

Miller, of Hartsville, who is presiding at the present term of the court of common pleas. The meeting was opened by President Scarborough, and after the preliminaries and business was attended to, the meeting was turned over to M. A. Doughty, as chairman of the day. Several little grievances were thoroughly aired by a few members of the club, but after the evidence was all in and each member involved had his say, they shook hands and promised that in the future no ill feeling would be held on account of same. CLEMSON AT THE FAIR

College Exhibit Created Favorable Impression

Clemson College, Nov. 1.—The college exhibits created a very favorable impression among the visitors at the State Fair in Columbia. The Clemson displays were of a dual nature—one was from the college proper, and was operated by the cadets; while the other represented the various departments of the extension service. Both exhibits were well planned, and gave a general idea as to what Clemson is undertaking. The booth representing the scholastic department of the college was located in a very desirable position near the front center of the steel building. The most attractive feature of the whole Clemson array was the radio. A small broadcasting station was erected at one end of the booth and concerts were received and given at the far end of the floor. The complete radio set was constructed at the college and clearly presented. The textile department was represented by machine which tested the strength of yarn and lessons were given in designing and in the dyeing of cloth. The mechanical engineers operated a gas engine that would show anything a person wanted to know. The civil engineers tested the strength of cement with the machinery for this purpose.

Some of the boys showed how to make wonderful mechanical drawings. Capt. Durfee with his two assistants constructed a small miniature likeness of Clemson on the sand table. All of the roads and buildings were placed in their proper places and on the proper contours. The agronomy, botany and bacteriology divisions carried on numerous experiments just as they are performed by cadets in the laboratories. The "Boil Weevil and Bee Motion Picture" attracted very much attention. The horticultural exhibit showed a model farm, on which nothing was grown but fruit and truck. Demonstrations were also given in the pruning of grapes. The model creamery was a great success. The cadets tested milk by well known principles laid down by Dr. Babcock. Then they would separate and churn it. The chemistry division had a very good exhibit, showing various tests and chemical processes carried out at the college.

The displays extended over a whole side of the length of the steel building. A person passing through the building could not help becoming impressed by Clemson and her great work. The cadets, with the exhibit stayed in tents and Mr. Harcomb sent along one of the books and everybody enjoyed the diet. When called upon to contribute to the Near East relief fund, the Clemson student body responded nobly. Not all of the students and members of the faculty have been seen as yet, but liberal contributions and pledges have been received from all. Still the students were not satisfied, accordingly when President Riggs told of the pressing need for the money the student body unanimously voted that 10 per cent of Clemson's proceeds from the Carolina-Clemson football game be given for this work.

John R. Haynsworth. Bishop W. A. Guerry of the Diocese of South Carolina made his annual visitation to the Church of the Holy Comforter Sunday and administered the rite of confirmation to a large class. The bishop preached at the morning service to a congregation that taxed the seating capacity of the church.

STRIFE AMONG ANGORA TURKS

Nationalist Assembly Breaks Up in Row Over Status of Sultan

Constantinople, Nov. 2. (By the Associated Press).—Violent scenes marked the proceedings of the first Angora assembly during the discussion today of the status of the sultan. A number of the opposition deputies left the hall; others favored postponement of the question until after the conclusion of peace. Dr. Riza Nur Bey, member of the Nationalist delegation at Lausanne, yesterday presented a motion endorsed by 76 deputies declaring that a new Turkey had sprung from the ruins of the Ottoman empire and proclaiming the sultan not existent. This motion was amended today by the addition of words: "The great national assembly of Turkey will liberate the caliphate from captivity." After a lively discussion the motion was referred to a commission of judicial experts.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha in a two hour speech outlined the course of Turkish history. He pleaded for the separation of the sultanate from the caliphate, pointing in support of his argument to the inconvenience of having the sovereign and caliph identical, and insisted upon the necessity of a discussion of the project. The assembly finally adopted a resolution that the telegram sent to the Angora government by Tewfik Pasha, the grand vizier of the sultan's government was an act of treason and the author of it must be punished. Tewfik Pasha in his telegram to the Nationalist government renewed his plea that a union of the two governments be negotiated, declaring that abstention of aullime porte from Lausanne peace conference would have
