

THE "OLD GRAY" AND THE NEW RIDER

E. PHILIP ELLIS

One Killed Every 17 Minutes

During the year 1929 it was shown that between thirty one and thirty two thousand persons were killed in automobile wrecks. The exact figures appeared in the editorials of "The State" a few days ago and in that same editorial it was calculated that the average death from cars was one for every seventeen minutes of the year past. Isn't that awful. "The State" commented further in saying "that with all of the good roads and warning signs upon the highways, such a death toll should not be." Just here we desire to comment further and say that, this tremendous slaughter would not be if those operating cars would keep whiskey out of them and concentrate their minds on what they are doing. It is true accidents will happen and sometimes cost lives. But I venture to say that nearly all of the deaths from car wrecks are caused by carelessness, drunkenness or foolishness on the part of the ones operating one or both machines. Cars of today are pretty well true so far as mechanicalism is concerned. Now and then you read of a wheel running off or the steering wheel getting hung, causing a death here and there. But the hurrying of thousands into eternity is the fault of reckless drivers and not that of the machines. Such a death rate as the previous year ought serve as a warning to persons operating cars this year. But every now and then you can see a car loaded with human passengers, with a red eyed limber neck, slobberer at the wheel, running his good for nothing mouth, with no concern whatever for the precious lives entrusted to his care. It is time and high time, for any and all persons to stay out of cars whose operators are in liquors.

South Carolina Led The Connecting

The Allen's Day returns of February showed the old Palmetto State to be in lead of more than a thousand dollars over the next highest episcopal district in the connection. The presiding elders, pastors and lay members of this state were amazed to see how little the other episcopal districts responded to this appeal. At our last tabulation the 7th Episcopal district had reported nearly seventeen hundred dollars and the first episcopal district, where the book concern is located, had paid just a little over seven hundred. Florida, the managers own state, had paid then upwards of four hundred dollars. And all of the other districts considered the appeal as a joke seemingly. Many of us here were no more interested in the publishing house than those of the other districts that did practically nothing. But we believe in obeying orders. Then, too, we never want our leader to be embarrassed. So it was due to the respect that we have for Bishop Hurst as much as anything else, why we rallied to the call. Now another movement is on to let us all rally again. It appears to me that the first effort should be to rally the connection up to South Carolina and let us go together. The attitude assumed by the connection in regards to the Allen's Day appeal, exposes this fact that the church, local nor general, need no longer put on these extravagant programs, more as a means to an end than anything else, and expect the people to pay for them. The people are figuring out now how to go to heaven by the cheapest church route. And from their ways and actions it seems that any church will do. There are thousands of people that expect to die in the church of their mothers and fathers. I, myself, am one of them. But this thing of churches contracting large debts, and when they find themselves sinking, cry "church pride!" "church pride!" is going to be a mighty poor appeal in the future. For some people's church pride is like a fat pig on an icy lake. It just as soon fall down as stand-up.

The "Leader" Supporters at Spartanburg

Aside from adding new readers to our list, nearly all of the old ones sent their subscription dues to the office by us. The manager, Mr. Geo. H. Hampton, was delighted with our report. He is encouraged to know that honest people will appreciate such a publication as the "Leader" and will pay for it. Dr. J. J. Walker is one of the leading dentists of the city. My most amusing student in the adults school was a man about five feet nine inches in height, he weighs about one hundred and sixty pounds, has heavy hands, dark brown eyes that gleam a half dozen different ways at once, black hair, a round face and always wears a pleasant smile. His first night in school he was very anxious to tell me he knew his alphabet and could spell at sight but could not pronounce. ("Nounce, as he said.") I finally succeeded in teaching him the sound of letters and he started pronouncing words. But I could not stop him from saying "nounce" and even now when I chance to meet him on the street and ask him to say

Doctors Disagree When children are irritable and peevish, grind their teeth and sleep restlessly, have digestive pains and disturbances, lack of appetite, and have itching eyes, nose and fingers, doctors will not always agree that they are suffering from worms. Many mothers, too, will not believe that their carefully brought up children can have worms. The fact remains that these symptoms will yield, in a great majority of cases, to a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, the sure expellant of round and pin worms.
