WHY THE FAILURE?

An effort is being made to have as many prominent individuals and associations as possible to endorse and use their influence in having passed a Federal Anti-Lynching Law. To that end, communications were had with 69 presidents of colored colleges. For some reason, 61 of them failed to notice the effort. The only one of these men who paid any attention to the matter was a white president of one of these schools. The colored brethren remaining strangely silent. If their silence is the result of fear on their part, then what hope can they be for the developing of method in those who go to them for improvement? If it is indifference, then they are the wrong men in the wrong place. If they lack courage, they are not objects of the growing and decent sentiment of the South. College presidents like other men in positions of leadership should take bold stands in those things which will result in the ultimate good. It is good things to have and hold but if the holding depends upon a cowardly course of conduct, even though mistakenly taken, then the price is too high. The failure of the 64 presidents to give their hearty and vigorous support to the enactment of a law which seeks to protect life and preserve the foundation of the fine civilization of this country is not an encouraging idea—and it matters not whether the failure is the result of fear or indifference.

THE NEGRO IN THE SUPREME COURT.

Because of the tendency to deprive the Negro of his rights as a citizen under the Constitution and laws of the country, some of the most important cases that have come before the United States Supreme Court have been those wherein the status of the Negro has been involved, even from the Dred Scott case to the present. At the present time, there are two cases before that tribunal, the decision of which are of interest and importance. One is from Texas wherein the political rights of colored people are concerned. In recent years, Texas has become notorious in its efforts to deny Negroes any participation whatsoever in its government. But those Negroes are not just sitting down and bewailing their fate, they raise money and fight. The second is the famous Scottsboro boys' case. An important point involved along with the lives of these boys is the right of Negroes to sit on juries. Of course, under the law they have that right, but like so many other citizenship rights, through one trick or another, it is practically barred. To be very frank has not one a great big job of optimism to hope for and expect justice in legal matters from the very ones who illegally and fraudulently bar them from jury duty? Of course, there could be picked certain men who could render justice under the circumstances, but in the manner in which juries are obtained, one could hardly expect such. May the Supreme Court will cause a change in this important matter.

RELIEF ABUSES UNDER FIRE.

That there is wide spread belief that there is something wrong with the relief administration in South Carolina was strongly voiced twice last week. The first by the incoming Governor, Olin D. Johnson, who in his inaugural address said "It is common knowledge that there is wide spread dissatisfaction at the way the relief funds have been administered. I propose to meet this issue squarely and use all of the power vested in me to see that these conditions are improved, and that extravagance and favoritism in the handling of these funds are brought to an end." The second protest was in the form of a resolution, introduced by Representative Ben E. Adams of Richland County and adopted by the House of Representatives. This resolution, among other things said, "those in charge have displayed a spirit of arrogance and indifference toward those in need... and have spent charity money in high living while old and needy men and women and little children have gone hungry and cold." Strong indictments indeed, and not without basis in fact. Of course, these complaints are based on the white side. If Negroes counted much, the tales of woe that they could tell would make one wonder if there is such a thing as the "Milk of Human Kindness." The Government has and is pouring out millions of dollars to prevent undue suffering. There should be no discrimination in the spending of that money. The population of the state is about equally divided between the races, but everyone with sense enough to change a fifty cent piece knows that most of the money finds its way to the white side, if through no other channel than administrators, investigators and office workers who are paid more as a rule, than they ever did or could earn in private capacities. The administration set up to begin with is not fair. Why should there not be some colored people on it? Beyond a few very few—house workers, Negroes are not known, and yet there are many hundreds who measured from any standpoint, are competent to do efficient work. This is an angle that Hon. Harry L. Hopkins, the National Administrator could give attention to. His attention would have to be called to it.

POINTED POINTS

By George A. Singleton
 Was to me who on their beds, some mischievous plans And carry it out when morning comes, Because they can!
 The above lines are from the prophet Micah according to the translation of Professor James Moffatt. Micah was a contemporary of Isaiah, and is erroneously called a Minor prophet in the familiar Old Testament Canon. It holds good today that the value of a prophet's message is not in length, but its content. The world has forgotten Hale's speech at Gettysburg, but who has not heard of Lincoln's great deliverance? It will survive long after the English language ceases to be spoken.
 Have just finished reading two excellent books: "Along this Way" by James Weldon Johnson, and "The Secret of Victorious Living" by Harry Emerson Foddick. No wonder Mr. Johnson's book was the most outstanding auto-biography of last year. It is a distinguished contribution to the culture of mankind. On the last two pages he attempted to set himself down as an agnostic, and an atheist. The unfolding of a great personality is the thing that counts, and how he contributes to the welfare of his fellowmen, but his notions about ultimate reality.
 The religion of Jesus moves perceptibly toward the Father. It also moves horizontally toward man. One shows his love of the Father by his attitude toward man. Abraham Lincoln was of this type. I pause to gaze out my door at the church which Lincoln attended while he lived in this city. He joined no church because he was not a credulist. The church needs more honesty, justice, honesty, and the Holy Spirit of God.
 While I write the postman brings "Modern Trends in World Religions." The Haskell Lectures in Comparative Religion, edited by Prof. A. Eustace Hayden of the University of Chicago. This volume will be read with avidity and passion. The writer had the course with Prof. Hayden during his student sojourn in Mid-West. Professor Hayden is a New Humanist. Jesus was a humanist so far as his religion made human personality central, but his that was in things of a living Heavenly Father.
 One might read "When Stars fell upon Alabama" to get a much different type of picture of social life as it touches the African-American, from what is portrayed in "Along This Way." The former represents the zenith, and the latter the nadir of achievement and behavior.
 "God and the Social Process" by Louis Wallis comes highly recommended as a historic approach and interpretation of the idea of God in the evolution of the Hebrew people. I hope to spend very profitable hours with it. Moffatt's translation of the Bible over against the new American Translation are illuminating. Then to "Anna Karenina" by Tolstoy.

 When the A. M. E. General Conference met in New York in 1852 there was one Bishop. Two were elected at the conference. On to Nashville in 1936 for the sake of economy.

Kampbellgrams
 By Stephen C. Campbell

What can the Baptist State Convention do for struggling young ministers, poor struggling churches, for old preachers, etc?
 At present, the convention does nothing for struggling ministers. I think, there ought to be a student loan fund for young preachers. They could repay this with interest and that would give a working principal.
 Old ministers get 5 percent of money raised. We have an old ministers bureau that is yet to be seen what the present set up will do. $3.00 was paid to each one last year. It ought to be at least $25.00.
 As for sending struggling churches a donation out of regular funds that has not yet happened. It would be a fine thing if the present administration would take this up as one of the objectives of the convention. This would encourage the small churches. The time is fading when churches will send and send and we keep and keep.
 Would it be advantageous for both conventions to meet at the same time? Yes. The men and women for both to keep meeting women are counter parts and much expenses will be saved if our wives and daughters would meet in the same city where we meet. It is at separate time and places.
 Do the Baptists have an orphanage? Not that know of. Jenkin's Orphanage is the nearest we have to one and last year we gave an after collection of only $5.27. I do not know what answer will be at the Bar for not doing something for the orphanage children. I think Jenkin's Orphanage ought to have a place on our program like all other privately owned schools. In short, I think that a commission ought to be appointed to see about the convention becoming part owners of sole owners of such an orphanage.
 Are broad members for life? Do you rotate elected officers? No. We often let a president stay as long as he desires. Rev. Earle resigned to accept the office of Cor. Sec. Board members serve for one year and may be reelected.
 The State S. S. and B. Y. P. U. convention rotates one-third of her board members annually. Rotation would be a fine idea. The state teachers' association has done this until last year. I favor a rotation of all officers, boards members and elected officers.
 Do you have a conciliation board or board of arbitration among the Baptists? No. Each Association board look after the affairs in its territory. Ex-parte councils are called to hear and adjust troubled churches.
 Do the churches report by association? No. They just report. I think they all ought to report by associations.
 Do the Baptists have a Book-store in the state? A young woman name Juliette Raiford conducts a nice shop at 1505 one-half Taylor St., Columbia, S. C. It is a fine start. If she can get pat romage from us, this will be a great store one day.
 Yes, there will be several strong men available for the various offices this year at the conventions. It is fine to aspire to these high offices and I am sure any of them will make great leaders. Every elected officers' time will expire at the conventions and all will be out unless the suffrage of the delegates will re-elect them. Rev. S. D. Rickenbacker was strongly endorsed by his section of the state. Others will announce later. Come on out CANDIDATES. You have a right to want an office in the state conventions. As the author of Kampbellgrams, I know I shall keep the job of writing them. Let others announce for some of the other offices. The Cor. Secretary of the E. and M. convention is bigger and better than recording secretary. Who wants it?
 To all moderators of associations, Association representatives, and elected members of The Baptist Educational and Missionary Convention of South Carolina, Greetings:
 By constitutional mandate, Wednesday, Feb. 6, is annual board meeting day, this being the first Wednesday in Feb. and the appointed day. In order that all may be amply notified, I am sending out this notice publicly and shall write each separate that on Wednesday, Feb. 6, 1935, at Second Calvary Baptist Church, Bull St., Rev. M. M. Peace, pastor, at 11 A. M. the board will be called by the president to meet transact any and all business for the Educational and Missionary Convention of South Carolina.
 Rev. Peace and his people are planning an elaborate entertainment and will be disappointed if you are not present.
 Much business will be transacted and your presence will be needed to represent your section of the state. Come early so we can have plenty time to deliberate and do the work assigned us.

DIST. FARMERS CONFERENCE ORGANIZED AT BETTIS ACADEMY, TRENTON, S. C.

Friday, Jan. 18, quite a large group of farmers from Aiken, Edgefield, McCormick and Saluda counties met at Bettis Academy for the purpose of organizing a permanent Farmers' Conference for Western Carolina. Mr. H. A. Blassengale, the wide awake teacher of agriculture at Bettis, was elected as president of the organization and a vice president was selected for each of the participating counties. The other necessary officers were also elected. Several interesting talks were made to the assembly by "white speakers, among whom were: Mr. H. A. Woodle, Co. Agric. Agent, Edgefield and his asst. Mr. Rev. T. W. Smith, Augusta, Rev. G. W. Blocker, Trenton, Mr. L. W. Collins, a successful farmer and large landowner, Edgefield, Pres. Nicholson of Bettis and others.
 The farmers plan to make this organization one of the best of its kind to be found anywhere. The next meeting will likely be held in November at the time of the Fair at Bettis. Both the farm men and the farm women are going to do their part toward the success of the organization. The 4H Club work is being organized among the farm boys and girls of the district and they too are going to help make the Fair and the Conference helpful and successful. Every one who is interested in the progress of the farm should take interest in this progressive movement.

 Mrs. Lillie Belle Adams is confined to her room with the Flu.
 Mrs. Sarah Rosboro does not improve very rapidly. She has been sick for several weeks.

JOTTINGS FROM LOCKHART

In spite of the inclement weather Sunday was a red letter day at Lockhart Chapel. Sunday school was opened at the usual hour, with a nice attendance. Everyone present seemed to have made special preparation in studying the lesson. The Bible Class was held at the usual hour with Mrs. Hattie B. Kelley presiding. The class was taught by Mr. Wm. Thompson.
 Sunday marked the beginning of the BYPU at Lockhart Chapel. We are sure that the young people as well as grown-ups are going to cooperate with us in making this organization a great success. The following officers were elected: Mr. Edward Thompson, president; Mr. Richard Kelley vice president; Mrs. Sarah Lipsy, Sec. Mr. Wm. Thompson, Asst. Sec. Mrs. Carrie Thompson, Treas. With such able officers we feel that the church as well as the community.
 The supper given by the Bible Class on Friday night, was quite a success.
 Rev. Blake was unable to be with us on Sunday night, due to circumstances over which he had no control. Nevertheless we were favored by a most inspiring sermon, delivered by Rev. Land, a visiting minister and friend.
 We are proud to have Mrs. Maggie Pendergrass back home after spending several weeks in Asheville. Mrs. Pendergrass was called away on account of illness.
 We are happy to see Miss Pearl Smith, Mr. Robert Smith and Mr. Willie Glenn out again after a brief illness. We hope they will continue to improve.

C. K. Hammond Reporter
 Greenville, S. C.—The hour for chapel exercises, Tuesday, January 19, was changed from 11:30 A. M. to noon. The change is not permanent, however. It was made so that the students and teachers could have the opportunity of hearing the broadcast of the inauguration of Governor Johnston. Prof. Hickson's Philco receiver was installed on the platform of the assembly room and in this way the program including cheers and preparation for picture taking—was heard very clearly. The proceedings should have furnished a very interesting topic of discussion in history and civics classes.
 The Expression Committee, a faculty committee in charge of public speaking and related activities, went to Clinton Thursday to attend a meeting of the Piedmont Declaration League. The party consisted of Misses F. L. Lykes and Pauline Turner, Mr. P. E. Stewart, and C. E. Hammond.
 In the meeting it was decided to admit four new members to the League, Coming Street High School of Spartanburg, Reed St. High School of Anderson, Fountain Inn School, and Nixey Six School. These additions brought the number of schools in the league to nine.
 The first clash of the basketball season came last Wednesday night when the girls met the Simpsonville School team and handed out an 8-5 drubbing. And in the town of Pendleton, the girls took their victory, defeating their opponents Friday by an 18-11 score. To tell the complete story, the Pendleton girls brought laurels to both girls and boys, for the latter went over also and returned reporting a 15-5 triumph.
 The basket ball coaches of the Piedmont section met at Sterling last Saturday. Mr. D. C. Butler, director of athletics at Sterling reported that the conference called to interpret rulings of the Piedmont Athletic League, was well attended.
 Mr. Sammie Reid, local pianist and radio entertainer, rendered an all-request program in chapel, Friday.

 Principal Harper and his co-workers motored to Columbia last Monday afternoon and spent a pleasant evening. The student and teachers are glad to have Miss Orlin Cromack back in school after being ill.
 Hot lunches are being served each day and the students are enjoying it.
 Monticello Basket Ball team, Prof. T. E. Robinson, principal, Misses Goodwin and Gary with a number of friends motored to Prosperity to play a game. The game was a hard fought battle, but Monticello won. After which a course of sandwiches and hot tea was served. A social date and the pleasant afternoon.
 Prosperity girls are expecting to go to White Hall next Friday to play a game.

FOUNTAIN INN HIGH SCHOOL

The students with the help of their teachers are again back to hard work after the anxiety of mid-year exams.
 We regret very much to state the illness of one of our teachers Miss Bowling but are pleased to speak of an improvement in her condition, wishing her an early recovery.
 The basket ball team opened their season with a bang. The girls' team in their new uniform, which was tailored in the home economic department, under the direction of our teacher, Mrs. Maggie Mims, with the assistance of Miss Wakefield of Garnet and Blue. The girls have to their credit victories from Gray Court, Cowpens, and Woodruff with scores 11-7; 6-10 and 14-18 respectively.
 The boys' team won two games: Gray Court, score 26-29; Cowpens, 14-15 and have to their credit a very commodeable showing against Allen University to the tune of 18-25, with the College winning. We hope for the teams a very successful season and ask them to keep up the good sportsmanship in their contests. Friday boys girls are to meet Allen girls of Columbia. Much luck for the team.

BEAUFORT COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Burton, S. C.—The Beaufort County Teachers' Institute was held at the Beaufort County Training School Friday, Jan. 18, 1935 at 11:00 o'clock.
 The assembly was opened by the use of the Negro National Anthem after which the chanting of the Lord's prayer. Prof. McGirt, president of the association gave in a few well chosen words the purpose of the meeting. He then presented Prof. J. S. Shanklin who in turn presented Mr. Paul, Supt. of Education, Mr. Paul took for his subject a part of the third verse of our beautiful Negro National Anthem. "Lest our feet stray from the places of God where we meet thee, Lest our hearts drunk with the wine of the world we forget thee, Shadowed beneath thy hand may we forever stand; True to our God, true to our native land." Quite an interesting discourse resulted out of the subject. Mr. Paul then presented Mr. Schiffler, assistant supervisor of Negro schools, who based his discourse on common sense. He said the qualities of a good teacher depend on four things namely:
 1st, Common sense; 2nd, being sympathetic; 3rd, knowledge of individual differences; 4th, Should know more than the children.
 All teachers seemed to have enjoyed having Mr. Schiffler. One thing mentioned by him, was that Beaufort county had made vast progress in the past three years.
 Mrs. Boyd, the supervisor, gave some of the experiences of her work as supervisor. She told the teachers the pleasure she had working in the county with them, this year and that she hoped the county has been benefited by them having worked in it. It was not time for class demonstration. The schedule was as follows:
 11-12:30 o'clock assembly; 12:30-1:30 Health; Miss Hall, Arithmetical, Miss Florence Grant, Music; Miss Elizabeth Polite, Reading Miss Julia Gilliard.
 1:30-2:30 Dinner; 2:30-3:30 Business session.
 After this the meeting adjourned. All teachers expressed themselves as having enjoyed a very enjoyable as well as profitable day. The teachers of Beaufort County Training School were pleased to go to the theater in Beaufort and see a demonstration on the screen. How a Teach Reading. This Courtesy was extended us through the white teachers association.

BRUNSON NEWS

The services Sunday at Brunson Chapel M. E. Church was well attended. The pastor, Rev. McTeer preached a soul stirring sermon. His text was taken from St. John 3:16, subject "God's love for the world." Didn't our hearts burn while he talked with us by the way?
