Anna Ray Moore Brings Her Nationally Known Band Here July 20th

Columbia Township Auditorium Scene of Annual Contest and Dance

The thrill music of the day will be heard by dance patrons and music lovers of Columbia, when Anna Ray Moore brings her nationally known orchestra here on Monday night, July 20th to play for the fourth annual sweetness contest and dance at the Columbia Township Auditorium.

It's not the crazy rhythm of Cab Calloway nor is it the jungle rhythm of Duke Ellington, but it's a band which ranks with the best in the land for harmony and sweetness. Twelve artists who have scored as their records have proven, outrage the patrons at the Cotton Clubs in Los Angeles, Daves in Chicago and at the Harlem club in Buffalo, New York. Achieving success by this band one of the best colored orchestras.

Wherever she goes in the cities [illegible] their praises [illegible] tion, and no [illegible] tion could be [illegible] tertainers, who will thrill and delight. This orchestra with its sweet rhythms and solid swing music is a welcome diversion from the usual type of colored bands, and no one in the world can harmonize like the Negro.

Led by one of the most popular colored girl leaders in America, few bands in the history of colored orchestra have enjoyed as sudden a rise as has Anna Ray Moore and her orchestra. A few years ago just another colored band today one of the recognized good colored bands of the country.

In bringing Anna Ray Moore and her orchestra to play for this outstanding annual event we are not bringing "just a colored jazz band" nor are we bringing the "Greatest Classical Colored Band in the world, but we are giving to the public a colored orchestra of the new era. A musical organization who are accomplished, and who play music arranged in a manner which more than pleases both the young and older patrons, their arrangements are modern.

She has the public's desire to dance at heart and plays music that compels them to dance. As leader, Anna Ray Moore has gathered about her twelve very talented and versatile musicians, and entertainers, who will thrill and delight.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our mother, Mrs. Arie Rabb—July 8, 1935.

Oft' when evening shadows fall,
We seem to hear your gentle call.
And seem to see your star lit eyes
Looking downward from the sky.

And O, the tears on earth we shed,
Are gathered in the smile you wear
The radiance streaming from your face,
Illums the path our feet must tread.

O' mother! waiting, hoping by your hoping—
You are leading our weary feet up to the stair—
That we must climb or ever we can greet you,
In heaven's eternal land so bright and fair.
