 HE IS STILL APPRECIATED.

Twelve months ago, one of South Carolina's prominent citizens—a lawyer, journalist and orator—passed to the great beyond, but we respect him in our memory and appreciate his contributions. This prominent citizen was Lawyer N. J. Frederick.

As editorial writer of The Palmetto Leader, Mr. Frederick was widely quoted and, with his pen, he did much good in molding opinion that helped. As a lawyer he was fearless and handled many cases. His appeals for the under man were strong and he cried aloud for mercy and justice for the Negro race before judges and juries in nearly every court house in South Carolina.

"UNCLE TOM" IS PASSING.

The Uncle Tom Negro of yesterday is passing from the scene rapidly. The new type of education in regular schools and in the school of life is gradually forgetting the "hat-in-hand" Negro who goes about misrepresenting Negroes to white people when no Negroes are in hearing distance, simply to have more pull and be looked to as the Moses of his people.

Intelligent white people of 1940 will not respect the Uncle Tom of yesterday. And progressive young Negroes will treat him with contempt.

Many Negroes try to ape the late Booker Washington in their desire to build up race relations, but they miss the point. Booker Washington was a creator of systems of thought that will live 500 years from now. DuBois and Monroe Trotter tried to classify Mr. Washington as a cringing compromiser of Negro rights, but Booker Washington was a great American.

Let the Uncle Tom leadership go. We have had too much of it. In a modern social order we shall expect a new type of leadership among our people in our national life.

Paroled Prisoners

When desperate prisoners serving sentences are given their freedom on recommendations of pardoning boards is getting to be one of the worst things to be imposed upon society. True enough in some cases both the judge and state attorney give their endorsements to such release but their approval in no way helps the situation. Some of the worst crimes that are being committed today are on the part of those whose sentences have been suspended.

Any number of victims have been hurled into eternity as a result of their freedom. Then too it costs the government thousands of dollars for their apprehension.

South Carolina can be justly proud of Governor Burnet R. Maybank for his repeated refusal to interfere with verdicts handed down by our civil courts. There are scores of people in every racial group that is nothing is too bad for them to do, and as long as they are imposed upon society highway robbery, kidnapping, rape and murdering will ever be committed. The cause of which is that the people are wickedly inclined. They are not in harmony with the church and the christian religion. They are drunk with sinful pleasures and the end thereof is death. You scarcely ever read of christian young girls coming to such tragic ends. There is a jail near my church, that I pass every day. And many times I have to stop and listen to the sweet religious songs sung by these prisoners in their cell blocks. The truth is, had they done such singing when they were out of jail, they never would have gone in. Since it takes the jail and penitentiary to make the best out of some people they should remain there.

Our Convention
 The Kings-tree District Missionary Convention held on the Beulah Circuit last week was a great success. Mrs. M. B. Benbow, president outlined a beautiful program which was carried out to the letter. Rev. C. A. Williams stirred the entire convention in his annual message. He really made a hit. Rev. Chappelle McClary preached a wonderful sermon at night. Dr. J. E. Thomas presiding elder of the Mt. Pleasant district delivered a masterly address before the convention. Dr. Thomas is one among the leading presiding elders of the state and Dr. J. L. Benbow gave him a warm reception.

Quite a few ministers attended this meeting. Among them were: Revs. L. D. Gamble, D. N. Wilson and wife, Mesdames W. T. Murray R. S. Lawrence and C. Lewis, representing the Georgetown and Mt. Pleasant districts. Among the loyal ministers from our district were Revs. E. P. Butler, A. R. Germain, D. W. Washington, R. A. Brown, G. H. White, Silas Middleton, Willie Williams, J. T. Broughton, W. W. Murray, H. Murphy, W. F. Wagner, A. Reddin, E. H. Rollerson and Rev. Chism, newly assigned pastor of the St. Peter Circuit, North Charleston. Dr. S. M. Huges of Kingstree could not attend as he was just recovering from several days' illness. Kingstree district has a noble staff of pastors of whom any presiding elder would be proud. Our Sunday School Convention meets with the Bonneau Circuit the week after the 3rd Sunday in September.

MRS. C. M. WEBBER BACK AT THE HOME PLACE AFTER 2 MONTHS IN ORANGEBURG

Mrs. C. M. Webber has returned to her home in Gadsden, after spending two months with her son at State College in Orangeburg, trying to recuperate from a serious illness. Her condition is much improved and many of her friends have called.

Her husband, Mr. P. R. Webber, Sr., surprised her on her return by having the whole interior of their country home repainted and redecorated. Miss C. Minnie Webber, her daughter who resigned her position in Seneca to be home with her mother, added the feminine touch, so with a new paved road, electricity and other modern conveniences available the place is a true country home.

At present Paul R. Webber, Jr., his wife Mrs. Clemmie E. Webber and their two attractive children Paul 3rd age 5 and Carolyn Ann, 3 years of age, are all spending a part of their vacation at the old home.

John H. Webber is now managing the store in Gadsden, formerly run by his mother and Mr. P. R. Webber is running the big store.

MAYBE SO AND MAYBE NOT
 (By W. H. Shackelford)

THE ART OF LYING

Lying is an art. Did you know that? It is one of the fine arts with some people. They have it down to a nicety. It is hard to catch them.

Some people are careless about their lying. It is easy to catch them.

There are some who are a real ignoramus of the technique of lying. They do not know how to dovetail their lying into reason and half-truths. However, you have to check carefully to catch them.

There are others who are skilled, shrewd, and so adroit that you never can catch them. You may be suspicious of what they say, and may feel that they are lying, but you have no proof against what they say. They get away with it.

I know of no sin so popular as hurtful as the sin of lying. I know of nothing that will destroy confidence between friends more quickly and more completely than lying.

ST. STEPHEN A.M.E. CHURCH

Rev. Hale B. Thompson, Pastor
 Wilmington, N.C.—Church-goers were favored with a most beautiful day for worship on the past Sunday here in this seashore city. Despite the intensely hot weather condition large crowds worshipped at both and evening services. In the Sunday school department there was correspondingly a large gathering on hand for the study of the lesson. Definite and appropriate plans were made by our pastor and Sunday school faculty for the observance of Endowment Day on Thursday night of the past week. "Christ the Sure Foundation" was the subject of the message delivered by our pastor at the morning's service. Mrs. Hattie Phifer who has been away to the state of Pennsylvania for the past sixteen years and a former member of this church accepted the invitation for church connection and was assigned to Mr. L. D. Middleton's class.

The subject of the night's message delivered by our pastor was "Divine Intervention" and was received most enthusiastically by the worshipping congregation. The presence of numerous visitors in and out the state was acknowledged at both morning and evening services. Among them was Mrs. Anna O. Turner, a relative and house guest of Rev. and Mrs. Thompson. The senior church moves forward along all lines in fulfilling its mission. Our pastor commended highly the fine achievements during the day's activities.

EMANUEL A. M. E. CHURCH

Rev. F. D. Dreher, Pastor
 Sunday school opened at the usual hour with officers and teachers at their post of duty. Sunday being junior church day the services opened with the juniors in charge. The lesson was beautifully discussed in all classes. The adult class holds the banner. Morning worship began with the junior choir at their post of duty. The pastor read for the scripture the 37th Psalm after which he brought us a soul stirring sermon. Again at 3:30 we witnessed another wonderful service. The singing convention convened with us and the Rev. N. A. Rice was apparently at his best. He also brought us a message that was truly impressive from Acts 2:1. This was an event of success.

The last quarterly conference will be here on August 28. All members are asked to be present. On the second Sunday in September there will be a rally given for the benefit of the trustee board. Also on Friday night the 25th of August Rev. Mrs. Daisy V. Miller will conduct a service at Chappelle Station church for the Rev. Jones. She is also an efficient evangelist and a member of Emanuel of this city. Call upon her, she is a willing worker.

TAYLOR CHAPEL AND CEDAR CREEK NEWS

Rev. W. G. Owens, Pastor
 I wish to state a few facts about my trip to Hodges in the interest of conducting a week's meeting for Rev. M. Massey. We had a wonderful meeting, large crowds every night. There were thirteen souls who confessed the Lord Jesus Christ and sixteen joiners. Rev. Massey has things well in hand and is serving his fifth year. They gave me a very fine reception. We were invited out every day to someone's house to dinner and supper. I stopped at Mr. Lewis' and Mrs. Cunningham's home for the first two nites and brother Greene and Sheards. These people certainly know how to make it pleasant for anyone.

On the 13th inst. the revival meeting opened at Cedar Creek. The pastor preached in the morning. Rev. W. B. Nash preached at 2:30 p.m. At 4:30 p.m. Rev. Anderson of Zion Pilgrim Baptist church preached a very soul stirring sermon on "Touch". Rev. I. C. Butler was expected to be with us but failed to come. Hence we had Revs. Salters, Jordan and H. Young to help us. We gained two souls for God.

Taylor chapel has purchased a new bell, also making general repairs of the church.

MT. OLIVE A. M. E. CHURCH

Rev. G. W. Gillison, Pastor
 Green Pond, S. C.—Sunday, Aug. 20th being our fourth quarterly conference the services doing the entire day was very good. At 10:30 Sunday school began with the Supt. and teachers at their post. The lesson was well taught. Comments on the lesson by the presiding elder was quite interesting. At 12 o'clock our elder brought us a soul stirring sermon. Subject: Selfish Plea. This message did indeed touch the hearts of all present. The amount raised during the quarter including presiding elder's support, pastor's support, Dollar Money, Mission and Contingent was $77.70. We hope for our presiding elder many more happy quarterly conferences throughout the district. At 8:30 a large crowd attended a pageant given by members of the Sunday school, entitled The Lost Church. This was indeed enjoyed by all. Gleaned from that source $19.36.

GARNETT NEWS

Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church
 Rev. Julius Holman, Pastor
 Sunday school good as usual. The Rev. W. D. Primus of Ridge-land preached from Heb. 11:8, subject Faith Tested. This sermon was powerful. At 2:30 the Savannah Jubilee quartet led by Mr. Quincy Glover sang. About 500 people heard them. At 7:30 the League and Bible Forum had a joint meeting. Too much praise cannot be given the young people for the part they played in the League.

At 8 p.m. the Rev. H. Milton Mickens of New Orleans, La., a returned missionary from South America and one who has crossed the Atlantic Ocean 9 times and who is also a candidate for the Bishopric in the A. M. E. church preached a wonderful sermon describing the mission of Jonah. Rev. Holman is to be congratulated as an attractionist knows how to draw a crowd. Three infants were baptized. Dinner served at the church. Miss Gladys Milton is visiting Miss Frances Gillison.

Sunday being trustees day. It was their rally day. It was a success. A large amount was raised.
