

The Old Gray and The New Rider

By E. Philip Ellis

The Palmetto conference held at Andrews last week was the best we ever attended since we have been connected with annual conferences. Bishop J. S. Flipper, D.D., LL.D., is among the greatest bishops known throughout Methodism. A minister who fails to do his duty under Bishop Flipper must quit the ministry and go home and sit down. Mrs. S. L. Flipper is truly a queen among the women of this Episcopal District. It seems almost impossible for the A. M. E. church in South Carolina to function without them. The Ordination sermon Sunday morning by the Bishop was a masterpiece. It did not only stir Andrews, but the area of the Palmetto conference. Bishop Monroe H. Davis, A.M.D.D., of the second Episcopal district and a son of our soil attended the first day session. His address was simply great; we have no words to express how we appreciated his wonderful speech.

Bishop D. Ward Nichols, another son of our soil was present on the second day and his address was wonderful. All of us were made to feel proud of his elevation. The annual sermon by Rev. Dr. N. Wilson, D.D., was among the best ever delivered to the conference. We were programmed to preach the missionary sermon, but on the account of our physical condition the bishop excused us, and Rev. Dr. S. Singletary took our place. We are certainly indebted to him for the same. Dr. W. P. Chapman, head of the State Leagues in South Carolina conducted the conference with his eloquence in presenting the claims of our colleagues in the churches. These dear six weeks was simply nine on education night and my group of singers received credit on the college.

Presiding Elders

We have in the Palmetto conference one of the best staff of presiding elders in the connection. They are Drs. T. J. Miles of the Georgetown district; A. Benbow of the Kingstree district and J. E. Thomas, who heads the Mt. Pleasant district. All financial reports went far ahead of last year. The same was true in the conversions and dedications. In fact every claim was in advance of those last year. Dr. R. L. Long's educational report was the B. H. Chapel; Olive Branch, W. T. Hall of Mount Holly; Theodore Green of Cain Chapel; Daniel Scott of Holy Trinity; David Scott of St. John and Daniel T. Lind, V. S. Lark mentioned from time to time in Districts' missives. Robert our future articles. Prof. C. G. Garrett of Columbia was also guest of the conference and his presence was highly appreciated.

The Grim Reaper

Since our last meeting of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, three of our grand officers have answered the judgment roll call. They are Brothers G. C. Williams, grand trustee; F. R. Blanchard, senior grand deacon and J. J. Harrison, right worshipful senior grand warden. Our hearts have been made sadder by their passing. Who will be next we cannot tell. But they all died in the faith, and we shall meet them in that happy land where parting will be no more. Peace to their ashes.

The Union

Our interdenominational Ministerial Union of Charleston and vicinity is among the best in this country—Rev. William A. Mack spoke on the quietness of a good minister, and it was a real treat. Rev. W. B. Jones addressed us on the subject, "Will God Hold Us Responsible For Sin ignorantly committed." His address was simply great; we have no words to express how we appreciated his wonderful speech. Bishop D. Ward Nichols, another son of our soil was present on the second day and his address was wonderful. All of us were made to feel proud of his elevation. The annual sermon by Rev. Dr. N. Wilson, D.D., was among the best ever delivered to the conference. We were programmed to preach the missionary sermon, but on the account of our physical condition the bishop excused us, and Rev. Dr. S. Singletary took our place. We are certainly indebted to him for the same. Dr. W. P. Chapman, head of the State Leagues in South Carolina conducted the conference with his eloquence in presenting the claims of our colleagues in the churches. These dear six weeks was simply nine on education night and my group of singers received credit on the college.
