

'O Little Town of Bethlehem'

"O, SILENT NIGHT, O, HOLY NIGHT"

"Faith," says the Bible, "is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things unseen."

No more perfect example of faith can be found anywhere than in the story of the Wise Men. When they set out to find the Manger on that long-ago Holy Night, they had not seen the Christ Child. No one of their acquaintance had seen Him. All the Wise Men had to guide them was a star.

Another anniversary of that Holy Night is about to dawn. The eyes of every liberty-loving men everywhere catch the gleam of the Star of Bethlehem, and learn, as did the Wise Men, the lesson of faith.

This can be a Christmas rich in the renewal of a steadfast faith, a faith which is indeed "the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things unseen."
